

Public Lecture in Women's Studies
Gender, Memory and Modernity Series

Dr. Anne Jamison

'The Late Age of Print': Digital Archives and Female Collaboration

Date: Tuesday, May 9, 2006

Venue: C0-071, Main Building

Time: 2-4pm

Anne Jamison (formerly Anne Oakman) is presently Visiting Fellow in Women's Studies at UL. She is a Postdoctoral Fellow at the University of Ulster (Coleraine) and is carrying out research on the Kate O'Brien papers at UL. Her previous work includes creating a digital archive of the Edith Somerville and Ethel Smyth correspondence (1918-1943) for Queen's University, Belfast. She is currently revising her doctoral thesis on Irish authors E. O. Somerville and Martin Ross and female literary collaboration for Cork University Press.